

A Fun Day
by Josiah Love

I stand beside a bright blue sea.
It feels like it's calling to me.
It brings back memories, good and bad.
Confusing ones, happy and sad.
The sand right under my bare feet.
Feels soft and nice just like a treat.
The wind is blowing through my hair.
I wish I could fly into the air.
I jump into the raging waves.
I stood in awe, completely amazed.
I come back out all cold and wet.
I see dark clouds. It's a storm I bet.
Thunder and lightning are everywhere.
I try to find shelter somewhere.
As sudden as it came it went away.
I walked on the shore for what seemed forever
I tried to catch a fish. Well, I made an endeavor.
I did not succeed but that did not disappoint me.
Far into the distance I spotted a shark.
Then I decided to go to a nearby park.
I swung on the swings for about an hour
Then I pretended I was a hero with superpowers.
After all this fun I was about done.
